India's railway network is one of the largest in the world – connecting the country and facilitating the movement of passengers and goods all around the year. It comprises 115,000 km of tracks over a route of 67,312 km and 7,112 stations. In 2015-16, the network carried 8.101 billion passengers annually or more than 22 million passengers a day!

India is also home to the largest number of children (39% of the population) in one single country in the entire world. According to even the more conservative estimates, at least 40% live in situations which make them vulnerable to abuse and exploitation. The largest segment of this population lives in urban areas, having travelled from small towns and rural areas to urban areas in search of livelihood, a means of existence, out of hope of a better life or even to fulfill dreams of meeting film stars they idolise.

Many of them have come to the cities using the trains – either as individual runaway children or being brought by an organised trafficking network. Bigger stations are key transit points in this process.

The huge network, which is such an important lifeline of the country, is also misused and hence based on their experiences, CHILDLINES and other civil society organisations working with children in contact with railways, as well as in and around railway platforms, have advocated the need for focused programmes and special attention at important railway stations. These can become key outreach areas for identifying and assisting vulnerable children as they are a first contact point or the most common mode of transfer of children.

With the aim of going beyond sporadic and spaced out efforts, CHILDLINE has always sought the setting up of an institutional mechanism to provide a safety net in and around the entire area, which involved partnership of multiple stakeholders. The aim was to rescue a child during transfer from safety to exploitation, or wean away a child living on the street and provide options for an alternative life. The objective was to respond to a child's need, before that need becomes a reason for exploitation and abuse.

During 2015-16, a unique initiative took shape – and CHILDLINES were set up at railway stations as an institutional mechanism, a partnership between two key ministries and multiple civil society partners with a common agenda to address vulnerability of children and prevent abuse.

A Standard Operating Procedure was formulated in March, 2015 and a Memorandum of Understanding signed between Ministry of Railways and Ministry of Women and Child Development on 19.05.2015. Towards implementation of the above SOP, one of the operative instructions was to set up Child Help desks/ Kiosks/ Booths. These were to be manned by Childline partners, which are receiving, rehabilitating and restoring children. These Kiosks have been set up and help in providing immediate attention to children at railway stations who are found unaccompanied by any adults and thereby address the issue of runaway, missing, abandoned children and children in other difficult circumstances in a more systematic and institutionalized manner.

Being in as highly visible an area as a railway platform, not only does this mechanism prevent abuse or link a child with statutory bodies and services, it also provides large scale awareness about how a child can be helped and thereby promotes civic participation.

This initiative is currently operating at 20 railway stations including New Delhi, Delhi (main), Nizamuddin, Anand Vihar Terminus, Mumbai Central, CST Mumbai, Howrah, Sealdah, New Jalpaigudi, Ranchi, Chennai Central, Chennai Egmore, Lucknow (NR), Lucknow (NER), Guwahati, Bangalore City, Patna, Varanasi Cant., Secunderabad and Nagpur. This is going to be extended to more railway stations progressively.

CHILDLINE services are being provided to children who come into contact with the Railways, based on calls and cases reported to CHILDLINE 1098 or walk in referrals by concerned adults. Assistance to children includes protection of children from exploitative situations, production before Child Welfare Committee and linkages to long rehabilitative services. Upto February end 2016, CHILDLINE teams have already provided assistance to 6,990 children.

This was a national process involving a National Coordinating Unit, CIF Regional offices, State Coordinating Agencies, and Review Teams. The 64 State Coordinating Agencies (primarily Childline Partners), are mostly academic institutions which are collecting information through their Review Teams. THE VOICE OF INDIA'S CHILDREN

Child participation involves encouraging and enabling children to make their views known on issues that affect them. Given the genesis of the CHILDLINE service, its identity continues to be linked to a deep-rooted vibrant relationship with children.

Involvement, respect, best interest of the child, access to information, expression and empowerment are some of the key aspects that come to mind when we think about what the concept of child participation means to CHILDLINE. Similarly, being a facilitator, listening to children, acceptance and accountability are some of the requirements that emerge while envisioning our role in the process of enabling children to meaningfully participate.

CHILDLINE's belief that when children are heard and involved, systematic changes would impact their lives positively has grown even stronger over the decade of its service.

OPEN HOUSE

Open House is an open forum for children to raise issues faced by them with the CHILDLINE team. This platform also allows children to be heard and seek support of government systems. The allied systems present in a particular region / locality are invited to the Open House to participate. Held once a month, Open House is a tool for child participation to help identify problems faced by children and for us to receive feedback on the effectiveness of the CHILDLINE service. CHILDLINE then follows up with the decisions taken to reach a logical conclusion.

RESPONDING TO CHILDREN IN DISTRESS

In India, CHILDLINE works with a phone outreach based intervention model with calls received by our Helpline 1098 being the means through which a cry for help is received. That's when the work begins! Local CHILDLINE teams are immediately alerted, and they quickly reach the spot to carry out direct intervention. This includes a wide spectrum of options, ranging from rescuing a victim of abuse and offering SOS support to filing a case with the local police, taking up the matter with the concerned Child Welfare Committee (CWC) and then steering the case over the subsequent steps as directed by them.

The CHILDLINE operational module involves interactions and linkages with allied systems such as the Police, Municipality, Healthcare, Education and Transport Institutions along with the Judiciary, Child Care NGO's, Local, State and Central Governments.

No two cases are alike. Some are easily, and speedily, resolved; others may require follow up for months on end. A few are really unique and require fresh interpretations of legislations such as the Juvenile Justice Act, and getting them accepted as well.

CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

"The child was in trauma as a result of her experience"

A 13 year old child from Aizwal was studying in a government school when her parents, both daily wage labourers from poor families decided to divorce. She stayed with her father, while her younger sibling went to stay with her mother. Soon after, the child began to be sexually abused by her father. Scared and confused in the absence of her mother and not knowing whom to inform or where to turn to, she remained lonely and helpless.

About a month later, after an Outreach programme in the locality, a team member of CHILDLINE received an anonymous call giving details of the case. Soon after, they visited each of the parents and found out that the child had been abused ever since the mother had moved away. On learning of this, her grandfather had gone and brought her to his own house. Now, they needed guidance on what to do next.

The CHILDLINE team took her to the CWC, who on seeing that the child was in trauma as a result of her experience, ordered her to be placed in a temporary shelter, where she would be provided with counselling and support. The team also assisted the mother in lodging an FIR against the father and followed up to ensure that he was arrested.

Due to the timely intervention of CHILDLINE, and with the support from the child's family, the Police, DCPU, CWC, the Home authority and the Judiciary, not only has the accused been booked, but also the rights of the child safeguarded.

A charge sheet has been filed and the case is going on in the court. The child has also been able to overcome the trauma, is now staying with her paternal grandfather and mother and has resumed her studies in Class VIII.

"Moving around aimlessly on Platform No 1"

In the course of a regular outreach programme at the Secunderabad Railway Station, a CHILDLINE team came across 13 year old Swathi (name changed) moving around aimlessly on Platform No 1. They took her to the Help Desk at the station and in the course of counselling, the girl revealed her disturbing story. Apparently she was from Darbhanga in Bihar, and had run away from home. After a train journey, she reached Secunderabad and was on Platform No. 10 of the station, when a man named Raju befriended her and offered her help. He took her to Borabanda, where, to her horror, he sexually abused her.

On hearing this story, the Child Help Desk informed the Government Railway Police (GRP) at the station. Raju was identified and a case under POSCO was registered against him. The Help Desk Co-ordinator informed the Child Welfare Committee about the case, and based on their order, Swathi was sent to the Government girls shelter home. The CHILDLINE team is monitoring the case.

CHILDREN WITHOUT PARENTAL CARE

"All he could remember was that there was a big tree near the school"

In the middle of September 2015, CHILDLINE South Sikkim got a call from a concerned adult who gave them information about a child working as domestic helper with a household in West Sikkim. The caller said that the child was often beaten up by his employers. The CHILDLINE team immediately visited the spot and after some effort managed to rescue the young child.

It emerged that it had been about three years since Vansh Gujarati, a 10 year old child, got separated from his parents and found his way, travelling across the railway, to Chennai. He wandered around looking for help, and was befriended by two older boys from Sikkim, who promised to take him back to his parents. A long train journey later, Vansh found himself at Dodak, Sikkim, where he had been forced to work as a domestic help ever since.

It was like hell, as he was physically & mentally tortured, often denied food and was not provided proper bedding to sleep, even during winters. During this time he was expected to do all the household chores – washing, cleaning and even cooking. He received no salary; and his only wish – to go to school – was turned down.

After he was rescued, the CHILDLINE Counsellor learnt that all Vansh could recall was that his father's name was Babli Gujrati and he worked in a gas company. He said he was from Delhi, but did not remember the name of his school or a detailed address, other than "3 no. Galli, Sikri Phatak, Modinagar, Delhi". He added that there was a big tree near the school.

An internet search indicated that Modinagar was in Ghaziabad, not Delhi, and when the counsellor showed Vansh images of the area, he immediately recognized the temple and the market and said his house was near the temple.

The CHILDLINE team got in touch with the Station House Officer of Ghaziabad - Mr. Deepak Sharma, and shared the information available. Within a few days, the police along with CHILDLINE Ghaziabad succeeded in locating the family. Little Vansh was overjoyed when he was shown a photo and recognised it as that of his father.

Less than a week later, Vansh's father reached Sikkim and his documents were verified by the Child Welfare Committee, enabling him to return to his home along with his parents.

At the initiative of SHO-Ghaziabad, Mr. Deepak Sharma, Vansh was admitted in a private English school, and offered free education, free books, free uniform and free bus service up to 12th standard. He is doing well in his studies and is happily reunited with his family.

CHILD MARRIAGE

On an afternoon in May, CHILDLINE Kokrajhar received call from the CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC) regarding a case of child marriage that was to be solemnised after two days. The caller was a social worker in Sapkata area under Gossaigaon sub-division of Kokrajhar district and she said she needed help to try and stop a young girl from being married.

The girl was 14 year old Hashina Khatun, daughter of a carpenter and a homemaker, who had been forced to leave school while in Std VI to look after her younger siblings (three sisters and one brother) and assist her mother in household work. They even decided to get her married off as soon as possible to lessen the burden on the home.

Hashina was not only being deprived of a childhood but also of the right to live with dignity and respect.

After alerting the Police Station, the caller and the CHILDLINE team reached the spot along with few people from the community. They tried to motivate the family to call off the marriage, but the parents said they had already given their word to the groom's family. Subsequently, the team members counseled the girl, speaking about the ill effects of child marriage, and later, with help from the CWC, even conducted a community meeting and shared various ground realities of child marriage.

Finally, Hashina's parents were convinced not to solemnize her marriage until she attains the age of 18. She was re-enrolled in school and is back to enjoying her studies.

CHILD TRAFFICKING

"Several awareness programmes had been held, so the villagers were aware of 1098"

Late one evening, CHILDLINE Pakur received information that three young tribal girls were moving suspiciously with an older lady near a temple in Shivrinar village. Since the team had earlier held several awareness programmes in the area, the villagers were alert enough to realise something was wrong. Being aware of 1098, they knew what to do.

After an initial inquiry, the team reported the matter to the Hiranpur Police station, and reached the spot late at night along with the policemen. The three children were rescued, although the trafficker managed to escape at that point, she was taken into custody the next morning.

The CWC handed over the children to CHILDLINE for temporary shelter. After verification of their family details, the children were sent back home and were able to resume their studies.

CHILDLINE Secunderabad received definite information about a batch of 72 children who were to be transported by a trafficker on the Faluknama Express. Accordingly the Railway CHILDLINE team planned a carefully-coordinated rescue operation by involving the Station Manager, GRP inspector and RPF inspector. Two rescue teams were formed, with a clear plan of checking the general compartments – one each at the front and rear of the train.

The action began as the train rolled in to the station and 72 children under the age of 18 were detained, and these, personal details checked. Of there 18, were handed over to the Madrasa home after verification, while the remaining 54 were given counseling by the Railway CHILDLINE staff and then taken to the Govt. Boys shelter home, Saidabad as per the CWC instructions.

Chairperson of Child Welfare Committee, Mr. Isidore Phillips, Director of Divya Disha, who was present during this rescue, addressed the media, and the GRP, RPF & Labour Department about the need for initiatives to avoid trafficking and measures to rescue and provide rehabilitation for these children.

Except three, all the children were sent back to their parents / relatives / care takers as per the CWC instructions and only three of them remained at the shelter home.

MEDICAL AID

“An abandoned child is sick and needs medical treatment”

The CHILDLINE team was informed of a call received by the CCC from a doctor at Kalawati Hospital informing them about an abandoned child who was sick and needed urgent medical attention. The team reached the hospital and found that the child is critically ill. On advice from the doctor, the child was taken to LJNP Hospital for an Ultrasound test, which revealed that his intestines were badly damaged.

Kalawati Hospital scheduled the operation within a short time, and the CHILDLINE team stayed with the child, and also brought all the prescribed medicines. The police was informed and details of the case were recorded.

After a two hour long operation the next day, and a prolonged recuperation, the child was finally discharged. He was produced before the CWC and arrangements were made for him to be looked after at the SBT Asra shelter home.

EMOTIONAL SUPPORT & GUIDANCE

“Passengers travelling by an RTC bus came across a lost mentally challenged child”

Ranju was the 18 year old daughter of a couple from a very Backward Community, Rajaka, which was dependent on their traditional profession – washing clothes, for their livelihood. She was mentally challenged since childhood, so when her parents moved to Visakhapatnam in search of better opportunities, she was left behind in her village in Srikakulam with her grandmother.

One day, Raju got lost. That was when the CHILDLINE YCB team received an alert from the Ranastalam PS that passengers travelling by an RTC bus from Srikakulam to Visakhapatnam had come across a mentally challenged child and had brought her to the police station. The team brought her to the Collab office, provided her with food and began counselling. Gradually, she gained confidence and but could only reveal very basic details about her family.

The counsellor talked about her state of health, the problems faced by adolescent girls, particularly abuses and sexual offences on isolated women/girls, and assured her that CHILDLINE, with support from allied systems, would provide her shelter till she was restored to her parents. Based on the CWC guidance, she was sent to Behara Manovikas Kendra Srikakulam, after the team overcame a lot of problems.

After many inquiries, the team heard about a case of a Missing person registered in Raju's village, and through the help of the police was able to contact her parents and family members. Later, after they assured the CWC that they would provide treatment, care and protection, Raju was handed over to her family.

Presently, Raju is under the care and protection of her grandparents and is receiving treatment at RIMS, Srikakulam. The CHILDLINE team conducted follow-up home visits to ensure that all is well.

RUNAWAY / LOST CHILDREN

In March 2016, 12 year old Onkar Kishor travelled with his mother and younger brother to visit the Kalighat temple in Kolkata. While returning in Gitanjali Express, he alighted from the train at Tatanagar (Jamshedpur) station to fill water. Suddenly he heard the whistle of a train about to depart, and in his hurry to get in, he accidentally boarded the wrong train. As the train pulled out of the station, Onkar's worried mother searched the length and breadth of the train in vain, and in desperation, alighted at the next stop and returned to Tatanagar in search of her missing son. Looking at the poorly clad woman, the railway police did not entertain her plea for help. A friendly passenger who saw this happening suggested that she could contact 1098. However, it was not till she returned to her native Ahmednagar, that she actually called up the helpline.

CHILDLINE East Singhbhum was informed and they immediately lodged a missing FIR at Tatanagar station. After carefully scanning the CCTV footage, the team realised that Onkar had boarded the Bilaspur Passanger instead of Gitanjali Express that day. A week had already gone by, so attempts to trace Onkar failed and the team, with the help of the RPF, informed all railway stations falling on the route taken by the Bilaspur passenger train, though without much success.

In a chance conversation almost a month later with a CCI in Ranchi in connection with a different missing case, the East Singhbhum team learnt about another child who was at the same CCI and said he had got lost in Jamshedpur. On further investigation, and after interaction with the child, they discovered he was none other than Onkar!

The CHILDLINE team immediately informed Onkar's mother in Ahmednagar and the young boy was finally reunited with his family after completing all legal processes. A happy ending indeed, due entirely to relentless efforts and alert volunteers.

"With the help of the Pathankot police, the CHILDLINE team pieced together the story"

In April, CHILDLINE Anantnag received information about a lost child found at Khanabal Chowk in the city. The team rushed to the spot and met the child, who introduced himself as Zabrel Mohammad from Pathankot. He said his parents were no more and he did not know where to go from here.

With the help of the Pathankot police, the CHILDLINE team pieced together the story. A few days ago, Zabrel had come to Kashmir with his elder brother, sister and cousin. The trio settled at Sempore Pampore and sold artificial flowers to earn their living. Due to a conflict with his sister, Zabrel ran away and came to Anantnag, from where he was planing to go Jammu to join his parents who were working there.

After persistent questioning and counselling, it finally emerged that Zabrel had an uncle in Pathankot, from whom the police obtained the phone number of Zabrel's brother. The latter came to CHILDLINE Anantnag office, and after completing all the formalities (including filing of a missing complaint, which the family had not yet done), took charge of the little boy.

CHILD LABOUR

Dhumpaka Santhosh worked as a domestic helper in the home of Satya Bala Bhaskararao, a small businessman in China Bazaar, Srikakulam. He also helped by working in his shop. CHILDLINE was informed of this through a call from an unidentified person, and reached the premises of Bhaskararao along with members from the allied systems such as labour department, NCLP and police, AHTU etc. The team rescued Santosh and brought him to the CHILDLINE office.

After being made comfortable, Santhosh related his heartrending story. His parents belonged to a very backward community and having no property in their village, had migrated to the town about ten years ago. His father worked as a cook in a local hotel and had abandoned Santhosh, his mother and other sibling about five years ago to live with another woman. They survived on the limited earnings of his mother, who worked as a maid servant in the area. She often fell ill, and due to financial difficulties, Santhosh said, he left school after Std VII and chose to help his mother by earning something.

Subsequently, the team counselled both Santhosh and his mother, explaining the importance of education for longer term prosperity. With the help of Shri K.Ramana murthy, Member of CWC, Santhosh was admitted to an urban residential hostel in Srikakulam (the CWC offered to get his sister admitted too) and is now studying well, keeping his long term development in mind.

PHYSICAL ABUSE

"He confirmed that his stepfather had been beating him"

CHILDLINE 1098 was alerted to a case of physical abuse of an eight year old boy P. Tarun studyng in Std III in Eluru. The caller, S. Venkateswara Rao said his wife had left him and entered into a second marriage, and the child who she had taken with her, was being abused by his stepfather, P Kiran. He said that the child was being beaten almost every day.

A CHILDLINE team immediately visited the house, and discovered that Tarun had severe injuries all over his body – the head, hand and even under the eye. He confirmed that his stepfather had been beating him, either with a wooden stick or even the phone charging wire. On one occasion, when the boy tried to flee by climbing over the wall, he was pulled down and his hand broke as a result.

When the team spoke to Tarun’s mother, she too confirmed the beatings, but said that the boy was not her biological son, but her sister’s. She alleged that the boy was having physical relations with a girl (even though he was just 12 years old) and that was the reason he was being beaten.

Tarun was sent to a Government Hospital for a check up, and a police complaint was filed at the same time. He spent a week there, and had to do a number of follow up visits for treatment.

CHILDLINE team produced the boy before the CWC, which ordered that he be given shelter at the Government Children Home, Sanivarapupeta. The CWC also ordered the police to file a case against the boy’s mother and stepfather.

OTHERS

In a case somewhat different from the those that CHILDLINE normally deals with, CHILDLINE Delhi team was contacted by a parent of the Kerala School, Canning Road asking for help as the school principal was harassing a group of nearly 50 children, whose parents had opted out of the bus service provided by the school.

On investigation, the team learnt that the parents of these children were all poor migrants from Kerala, who were finding it difficult to pay the bus fees demanded by the management and had therefore opted to arrange their own transport. The team learnt that the school management had increased the bus fees from Rs 800 to Rs 1400 over the last few months, and when a group of 50 parents opted to organise their own private bus at about Rs 1000 per child per month, he began harassing those children. The parents feared that their children may suffer during the final exam as a result.

The team contacted the Principal, Mr Hari Kumar, and after some persuasion, he agreed to hold a meeting with the concerned parents. During a lengthy discussion, both sides presented their views. The Principal stressed that the bus fee hike was a result of an increase in rates by the DTC, which had also shifted to low floor buses with less seating capacity than the old standard buses. He also said that the fees for January had already been paid in advance. On the other hand, the parents highlighted the fact that they were arranging a similar service at a cheaper rate, but expressed their willingness to give the management a month before the changeover as they had already paid.

The CHILDLINE team helped them arrive at a mutually acceptable solution and the children are now attending school happily. Now CHILDLINE will be conducting Open house/ Awareness programmes in the school.

A dash of creativity to spread word of child helpline

K. LAWSON

CHENNAI: Passengers at the Egmore railway station were surprised when a street play was enacted at the transport hub to raise awareness about the child helpline 1098 on Saturday morning.

Volunteers of Arundodhara Centre for street and working children staged the play that stressed the need for protecting child rights and sought to inform people of the helpline. They encouraged passengers to participate in a signature campaign to ensure greater publicity for the child helpdesk at the railway station. Many of the commuters readily signed on a big banner to support the cause of child safety.

Arunodhaya Centre's executive director Virgil D. Sami said the programme was organised to kickstart the activities as part of "child helpline se dost" week (Friendship with child helpline) that is being observed till November.

Shilpa.Baburaj

When 3-year-old Chaavi (name changed) went missing, her parents relentlessly searched for her and found her beneath the bushes in a cemetery in north-east Bengaluru. She had been brutally raped and left to die. This case was reported by Radha R, activist with Childline, the children's helpline, on May 19, 2015.

Childline encouraged Chaavi's parents to file a case under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (PoCSO) Act 2012 against the attacker. The case drags on, along with more than 70 cases of PoCSO filed by Childline in the past 18 months. Not a single case has been disposed of by the sessions court. This despite the act explicitly stipulating a six-month deadline for adjudication of cases.

"Chaavi was taken by a drunk boy in her neighbourhood when her parents were away. They're from the weaker section of the society and were initially reluctant to lodge the complaint. But we encouraged them to do it. I haven't heard anything from the court on the case yet," said Radha.

Incidentally, high-profile cases like the many sexual assaults on school campuses in 2014 too are pending, sources in the Pooja court confirmed.

Bosco and APSA, associated with the Childline, have filed 32 and 43 cases, respectively.

TOI had earlier reported on the poor conviction rate in Pocco cases in the city with 90% of them ending up with the abuser getting acquitted.

"We find children coming to Bengaluru railway stations in groups. These are boys and girls from Bihar, Odisha and Madhya Pradesh. They say they're being brought here to study but a few weeks later these children are pushed into hard labour where they are assaulted and abused. There are a few cases of minors clopping where the PoSCO act is misused. But why are the heinous cases not disposed of? The child, who cannot even understand what's happening to her, doesn't get justice," said Jennifer B of PoSCO Childline.

"The poor conviction rate brings down the morale of those who put their faith in the Act," said Subramaniam, Childline coordinator.

CHILDLINE CONTACT CENTRE (CCC)

The CHILDLINE 1098 service is a 24 hour free emergency phone outreach service for children in need of care and protection. The voice of every distressed child reaches us through the CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC), the central facility to which all 1098 calls are directed. CHILDLINE adopted the contemporary technology of a Call Centre in 2008 to ensure a more systematic approach to Call Management and Documentation.

The CHILDLINE service needs to reach every corner of the country to ensure that every distressed child's cry for help can be heard and responded to. With this aim, CHILDLINE has used contemporary technology and systems to set up the CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC), a central facility to which all 1098 calls are directed. The centre uses the same systematic approach to Call Management and Documentation that is used by other Call Centres.

Every CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC) offers a 24 hour voice response service using the set up of a contemporary Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) facility. CCC answers calls at the national level, 24x7 from children in need of assistance and ensures that every child who calls 1098 is provided help through partners at the local level. CCC is staffed by CIF staff and the technology/infrastructure is outsourced to TCS using cloud based connectivity.

HOW CCC FUNCTIONS

Once a call is received at CCC on 1098, it is answered by a trained CHILDLINE Contact Officer (CCO). If the call resolution can be completed on the phone it becomes a CCC operation. However, in calls requiring Direct Intervention, the CCO will list the details and make an outbound call to the Collab Partner (the CHILDLINE Interventions unit) in the city where the call has come from.

Then the Collab partner takes over and indicates to the CCC an estimated time of intervention and post the intervention, reports the complete case details to the CCC. This enables the CCC to complete the case documentation. Sometimes the caller speaks in a local dialect. In such cases the CCC facilitates a conference call with the local Collab partner.

In 2015-16, a new unit was added with 12 seats in Bengaluru. Now, CCC operates with 97 seats on a 24 hour basis across five locations: North receives partial calls from the Northern region, Chennai services calls from the Southern region, while Bengaluru exclusively services calls from Karnataka. Mumbai, which is split across 2 sites, services calls from some parts of the Northern region and the entire Western region, while the Kolkata CCC services the Eastern region.

CHILDLINE GOES BEYOND THE SERVICE

The year 2015-2016 saw a further growth and advancement in CIF's communication tools, issue based projects, publications, media associations, corporate tie-ups and rigorous awareness programmes at the state and national level.

Constant updates on social networking sites, interactions with our ever-growing database and innovative awareness campaigns/events were carried out, helping us to reach an ever-widening audience.

ISSUE BASED PROJECT

CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE AWARENESS PROGRAMME (CSAAP)

CHILDLINE India Foundation has been in the forefront of the campaign against Child Sexual Abuse. The Child Sexual Abuse Awareness Program (CSAAP) launched in 2011 is a unique initiative that started in the city of Mumbai, Navi Mumbai and Thane. CSAAP reached out to more than 1,500 schools, sensitizing around 5,50,000 children across the city, with over 250 trained lady volunteers. This programme was supported by HDFC in the initial two years.

Currently the program caters to children aged 7-12 years, i.e. roughly those in the 2nd to 6th standards (which according to the MWCD report – is the most vulnerable age group of children). Even though CSAAP has reached out to more than 5 lakh children, that still leaves out a large chunk of the child population in the city. Therefore, as per demands from various schools and institutes, CSAAP is now working on similar awareness modules for Pre-primary children (0-6 years), Secondary school children (13 – 16 years) and special children.

Due to the increase in the number of reported CSA cases and a strong demand for the program in other cities, CSAAP has been duplicated in Bengaluru in the last financial year. CSAAP Bangalore began in August 2015.

As of March 2016, CSAAP has completed the program in more than 1,500 schools across the cities of Bengaluru and Mumbai, reaching out to more than 5 lakh children making them aware of what is safe and what is not.

CSAAP is not a classic 'behaviour change' type of communication. It is a preventive and sensitization program for children. As the program is essentially centred around sensitization for CSA prevention, the valid measurement for impact is to evaluate, through an appropriate methodology, the effectiveness of the communication received by children via the story telling format. Have children comprehended the concepts of safe/unsafe touch and personal safety rules? Are schools reporting that the program is effective and are schools asking for the program to be continued/ to extend the program to Pre-school or Higher Secondary students?

About Sample:

In 2015 -16, a bulk of schools selected for assessment were those schools where sessions were completed in 2014-15. This assessment covers children from all types of schools, ages and IQs. This is where no biased sample is selected for results.

Conclusion post analysis:

Even 6 months or more after attending the program, children do remember what is safe touch and safe situations. Data clearly says that 80 to 85% children responded in a right way i.e. 85% of children know Safe Touch and 85 to 92% children know what unsafe touch is. According to our observation, those who were absent on the day the story was narrated (classroom session), have most likely shown confusion, or have possibly not answered at all.

Schools say:

According to most school principals, this programme helps them to communicate with children as well as parents in situations where 60% and more parents were unable to talk on CSA awareness with their own kids. After the sessions, more than 90% schools experienced that teachers are specifically reporting positive feedback about CSAAP to the principal. 60% of principals now want to repeat the story in their schools at least once a year and 38% feel that the story should be repeated twice a year.

CSAA Program developments:

The CSAA Program currently running in schools targets children in the age group 7 to 12 years, which essentially cuts out half of the child population.

After immense pressure from schools throughout Mumbai, the Team is now creating separate modules that target different age groups of children like pre-school, adolescents and special children.

WORLD DAY AGAINST CHILD LABOUR

In 2002, The International Labour Organization (ILO) gave a call for observing 12th June as World Day Against Child Labour (WDACL). It was conceptualized as a day on which a wide range of activities would be taken up to motivate society to fight against child labour and raise consciousness about the plight of the millions of children who work as paid or unpaid labourers and are extremely vulnerable to exploitation. Ever since then, governments, various organizations and society at large participate in programmes to speed up the elimination of the menace of exploitation through child labour.

CHILDLINE SE DOSTI

CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF) constantly focuses on strengthening and systematizing Child Protection in India through its efforts. These efforts are carried out collectively and in collaboration with the Government of India, State Government and Civil society organizations in order to make children's issues a priority on the National Agenda. In addition, CHILDLINE discusses and dialogues with its partner network through various meets which result in universal programs and protocols to build an effective Child Protection practice.

Launched in 2007, the week long countrywide celebrations have grown in ever expanding ripples, with newer centres taking up the campaign in varied and increasingly interesting ways. With each year we are moving forward to acquainting more and more people and communities with the concepts of Child Rights and Child Protection, encouraging and inspiring them to take a more pro-active role in their immediate environment to help children in need.

Across India, CHILDLINE teams visited police stations and government offices, educational institutions, hospitals and transport centres such as railway stations and bus stands, and even ventured into slum community pockets with street plays, awareness meetings and public rallies, cultural, entertainment and sports programmes and much, much more.

Workshop on Multiple Intelligence Inspired Growth

A workshop was organized for about 70 teachers of G G International School, Pimpri, Pune, on September 10, 2015. The resource person was Mr. Jitendra Sandu of Talent Mat, Pune. Mr. Sandu introduced teachers to the practices inspired by Multiple Intelligences (MI) theory. Teachers today deal with many issues in their classrooms from students' behavioural problems to curriculum concerns. Many teachers are searching for fresh and innovative ways to approach these issues. One approach that has been moving through the United States and Canada is the Multiple Intelligences approach to teaching. These strategies are based on the Multiple Intelligences theory developed by Howard Gardner in 1983 that all people have within them many "intelligences" or capabilities. This workshop outlined Multiple Intelligence teaching strategies to help educators feel more comfortable using these strategies in their classrooms.

The teachers gained knowledge and confidence as a result of attending the workshop. By the end of the workshop, participants were able to use Multiple Intelligences theory in their own instruction and Mr. Jiten Sandhu explained the benefits and challenges of using this strategy in teaching-learning process with many examples.

Recommendations for changes to future Multiple Intelligence workshops were suggested by the educators of GGIS as well as an interest in further communication to support teachers who wished to use the strategies in their classrooms. The program was organized by Mr. Vinayak Joshi, Manager, Resource Mobilisation, CIF.

The CHILDLINE service, which has been developed and managed by CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF), is a 24x7, emergency, free phone outreach service linking children in need of help and protection to organisations run by government departments as well as those run by civil society agencies. Children or concerned adults dial the number 1098 and are connected to the CHILDLINE service in their city.

Street children and youth living alone on urban streets, child labourers especially in the unorganized sector, children who have been abused, child victims of the flesh trade, differently-abled children, child addicts, children in conflict with the law, children in institutions, mentally ill children, children affected by HIV/AIDS or other long term diseases, children affected by conflicts and disasters, child political refugees, children whose families are in crisis, gender linked abortion of female foetuses, undernourished children, illiterate children are among the host of issues plaguing children in India.

As of March 2016, CHILDLINE operates in 396 cities and/towns across the country and services over four million calls a year.

CHILDLINE is India's first national level response to the ratification of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC). Additionally, the CHILDLINE 1098 service receives special mention in the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act 2000 - the Government has requested CHILDLINE to act as a catalyst in bringing together State agencies and voluntary agencies at the local level to ensure implementation of the Act.

The Government of India cites the CHILDLINE service as part of services to UN for the United Nations Convention of Child Rights commitments. When the Ministry of Women and Child Development (MWCD) came into being in 2006, it recognized CHILDLINE India Foundation as the Nodal Mother NGO for implementing the CHILDLINE model across all districts in India. Furthermore in order to put in place a process framework for the implementation of Child Protection, CHILDLINE joined hands with The National Institute of Social Defence and developed a program: 'National Initiative for Child Protection (NICP)'. This has subsequently become the framework for the MWCD - initiated Integrated Child Protection Scheme program (ICPS). The Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) of the ministry funds the expansion of CHILDLINE services and has targeted the end of the 12th Five Year Plan to cover all 600+ districts of India.

THE CHILDLINE MODEL

CHILDLINE is a unique partnership between the Government of India, Department of Telecommunications, voluntary agencies, academic institutes, the corporate sector, children and the community.

THE PARTNERSHIP MODEL OF CHILDLINE INDIA

CHILDLINE is the crucial link between children in need of care and protection and the available services. For children with different needs, who call in anytime, anywhere, and for anything, we act as a one-point contact, which facilitates instant access to support, advice, active intervention or just a listening ear. We connect children in emergency on one end of the phone line to a well-connected network of services - services that already exist. No new shelter, no new hospital, no new infrastructure is built.

We at CHILDLINE believe that for a helpline to be successful and effective in reaching out to the millions of children deprived of their childhood, we need to work in a partnership framework. A framework that recognizes that:

- A helpline cannot operate in isolation
- All partners involved in the helpline share a reciprocal relationship
- Each partner has clear and definite roles in the partnership model. This leads to a feeling of joint ownership towards the model.
- All partners share the vision, mission and the success of the model

THE OPERATIONAL STRUCTURES AND PROCESSES OF CHILDLINE INDIA

CHILDLINE CONTACT CENTRE (CCC)

CCC is a 24 hour, centralized voice response facility of CHILDLINE using contemporary BPS (Business Processes Services) technology at Vikhroli in Mumbai. The CCC is a continuous operation and tracks all calls coming in including those that land at the switch but are either terminated or 'abandoned' before a CCC member can answer it. CCC uses contemporary CRM software for real time data analysis and currently services all cities in the North and West regions of India.

NODAL ORGANISATION

The nodal organisation is usually an academic institute or Non Government Organisation with networking, training, coordination and research skills. A city coordinator is supervised by the Nodal Director who ensures creation of a protective environment for children at the city level.

EMERGENCY INTERVENTION CENTRES – COLLAB PARTNERS

The Emergency Intervention Centres are voluntary agencies, which shall function as the intervention units for CHILDLINE. CCC responds to calls that are received on 1098 and transfer the case to the collab partner who carry out the intervention process. The centre coordinator manages a team that intervenes in emergency cases and conducts outreach and networking activities.

CHILDLINE SUPPORT AGENCIES/SUB-CENTRES

CHILDLINE Collaborative Partner is also called the Collaborative Centre. There are, approximately, 5 to 7 Sub-Centres in districts (and 1-3 support agencies in cities) as per the specific need in the district/city, according to the nature of the population and geographical spread in the district. A team of three CHILDLINE staff members assisted by two volunteers from the Mahila Samakhya members, anganwadi workers, teachers, and woman members of the panchayat assist the Sub-Centre staff at the taluka and village levels. They will follow up on children who have returned to the village and provide information when children are being recruited and help the local community to prevent child labour.

CHILDLINE ADVISORY BOARD OR DISTRICT ADVISORY COMMITTEE (DAC)

CHILDLINE Advisory Board or District Advisory Committee (DAC) is headed by the Collector and other members include the District Officers for Health and Education. Major NGO like Mahila Samakhya and others stimulate the development of the programme in the district.

RESOURCE ORGANISATIONS

Resource organisations act as centres for referral by CHILDLINE. They include the various organisations and institutions that provide services for children or work on children's issues. They also participate in outreach and awareness programmes for CHILDLINE.
